—Lost, between Mrs. Stump's and Mrs. G. W. Stevens's, a milk bowl. Finder please leave at this office.

—The Woodbridge organ is not excelled anywhere, for the price. Call at A. & M. Turner's book and music store.

—Last week Thos. Keating received the sad intelligence of the death of his father in Illinois, where he resided.

—George Rabb came down from Humphrey Thursday last to give thanks and eat turkey among his many friends here.

—Mr. P. Henrich, the wide-awake insurance agent of Platte Center, is in the city Tuesday last and called at the JOURNAL office.

—We crave the indulgence of our readers during the discussion of certain unsavory subjects that need more and more attention.

—Next Tuesday evening, December 11th, there will be a neck-tie sociable and oyster supper at the M. E. church, to which all are invited.

—Several of our exchanges commenced a recent communication in the JOURNAL on the manner of conducting elections in some places.

—Johnnie Becher has been absent from his post of duty at Kramer's counters for several days past, confined to his room by sickness.

—Reese's majority for judge of the supreme court is just four thousand three hundred and sixty-nine, and the county of Custer to hear from.

—Mrs. Gatward of Genoa was in town Monday, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Gibson, who has been visiting her home in Greeley county.

—Wm. Wamsley of Lincoln had one of his fingers crushed Monday evening while uncoupling cars at the A. & N. depot. Dr. Martyn dressed the wound.

—Abner Turner, Esq., who has been sojourning on the Pacific coast, returned home yesterday morning. We have not learned his opinion of that country.

—Mr. Courtwright called on us Wednesday last. He is now teaching in one of the city schools at Lincoln. He looks in better health than when teaching here.

—Leap year will soon be here, and it is to be hoped that the girls will maintain their rights and put an end to the miseries of the weak nerved old bachelors of the land.

—P. Coleman, living near St. Bernard, this county, has sold his farm, and has purchased, we understand, another farm near to the Niobrara river in Holt county.

—The reform school at Kearney is reported as full. The parents of bad and incorrigible children will have to manage to get along with them at home for the present.

—An exchange suggests to farmers thinking of to divide their wagon boxes into two convenient apartments—one for the best corn for seed, the other for immediate use.

—Wm. Routson left the city Thursday last for Ohio. He accompanied his half-sister, Miss Jessie Sheets, who returns to that state to make her future home with relatives there.

—Citizens from Fremont, Schuyler, David City, Fullerton, Genoa, St. Edward, Cedar Rapids, Platte Center, are getting suits made by W. Y. McKean, merchant tailor, Columbus.

—The man Yale and the boy Percival, confined here on charges of larceny, broke jail Tuesday night of last week. The boy is detained at Omaha, the man has not yet been found.

—Dan Condon recently received news of the death of his uncle, Daniel McGrath, of Montreal, Canada. The deceased was inspector of railway masonry for the government of the Dominion.

—Fred. Matthews started Monday morning for Canada, where he will visit friends during the winter. He will return in time to take his accustomed place as driver of the "Wild West" stage.

—A book agent named Jurgens, of the 2d dist. jumped from a passenger train just west of Fremont. His head was severed from the body, both hands cut off, and the body horribly mutilated.

—The mitre society of the M. E. church will meet at the residence of Mr. Haddock, near the A. & N. depot, this (Wednesday) evening. A pleasant time is anticipated. All are most cordially invited.

—We received a pleasant call recently from Mr. C. A. Warner, an ex-captain, from Ohio. He is now spending a few days visiting friends here, and is working in the state in the interest of Cram, the atlas man.

—We notify each subscriber, every week, of just how his account stands for subscription. If you wish the paper sent you no later than the date printed opposite your name, please drop us a postal card so stating.

—Thos. Galligan, living near Farall P. O., in this county, will probably leave this week for Colorado. He intends to stay at least one year, and if successful, remain indefinitely. We wish him success in every respect.

—Is it next spring or only last fall? It certainly isn't winter weather, for store doors are kept open, men about town in their shirt sleeves, and even the festive fly who had gone into winter quarters, has again appeared as saucy and lively as ever.—Madison Chronicle.

—Miss Agnes Jones, a blind musician, is advertised to give a free concert at the Episcopal church next Saturday evening, the programme to consist of choice selections of sacred temperance, patriotic and sentimental songs.

—Mr. John Elliott's new residence in the northeastern part of the city does credit to the builder, and will make a comfortable home for the declining years of Mr. E. and his estimable consort. May they live long to enjoy it.

—From Samuel Anderson we learn that Anton Swanson left yesterday for a two-months' sojourn in Sweden. Mr. Swanson has been in America 22 years, and is one of the oldest settlers on the Looking Glass, having lived there 15 years.

—Troy Hale, whose horse won the race Saturday last, claims to have had $650 stolen from him the same day, and had Frank Frush and Perry Davis arrested on suspicion. The trial is now in progress. Full particulars next week.

—At Sioux City they have a procuress, who makes a specialty of enticing young girls. The Journal says it is not plain why she is allowed to defile the city with her presence. Probably because the public officials are waiting for individuals to incur the expense of prosecution.

—The Otter reservation lands are to be re-offered for sale on the 10th. Many purchasers at the first sale have forfeited their rights by not complying with the provisions of the law in making actual settlement, and these lands will also be offered. About 25,000 acres remain for sale.

—Burglars entered the office of L. B. Baker, a lumber dealer of Battle Creek, on the night of the 21st inst., and blew open the safe with gunpowder. They secured about $38 for their trouble. The safe door was completely blown off, and the books and papers considerably damaged.—Madison Chronicle.

—J. G. Reeder was up to Fullerton Sunday, returning Monday. He says the town is lively, and everybody jubilant over the fact that in a few days the railroad will be completed into the town. The grading is all done, the track laid within two miles of town and the bridge across the Cedar will be finished this week.

—We notice the following programs of two literary societies at Lincoln: biography, extract, oration, vocal solo; review, scene, piano duet, eulogy, invective, oration, vocal solo; essay, declamation, duet, essay, oration, quartette, essay, opposition essays, piano duet, discussion. Where intellect and interest combine, the organization of literary societies can be made very useful.

—At the regular meeting of Occidental Lodge No. 21, K. of P., Thursday evening last, the following officers were chosen for the ensuing term, commencing the first Thursday in January: P. C., O. H. Archer; C. C., Dr. C. D. Evans; V. C., J. G. Reeder; Urelete, W. A. McCallister; K. R. S., Theodore Wandell; M. F., Henry Hagatz; M. E., Herman Oehrlrich; M. A., Carl Wermuth.

—A new walk has been laid on the west side of N. street between 12th and 13th. An alley crossing between these streets will now give a continuation crossing from 11th street to the Congregational church. Other sidewalk improvements have been made on 12th and 13th streets. Let the good work go on; nothing speaks better for the thrift and enterprise of a city than good side-walks.

—The ball given by the Columbus Athletic Association Thanksgiving was fairly attended and resulted in a very pleasant time for all. Financially it was a success as well, netting to the Association about $75.00. The dance to be voted to the most popular man from the north or south side of the city was awarded to Julius Rasmussen of the north side, he having received 159 majority over Mr. Early of the south side out of a total of 259 votes.

—We recently had the pleasure of examining a new and very valuable work published by Geo. F. Cram. It is something entirely new in the atlas line; and, considering the large amount of information which is most beautifully arranged, and the exceedingly small price, it cannot fail of success wherever introduced. In the comparative diagrams that is invaluable in the hands of even small children, while it is of equal importance for reference to the business man, as to maps and statistics it is all that can be desired. It is properly called the "Unrivaled Family Atlas of the World."

—It seems that the decision of the supreme court in the railroad case of Butler county, was not final, but that the same has been appealed to the U. S. court, where it is possible, of course, that the recent decision in favor of the county may be reversed. "If this should prove to be the result," says the Ulysses Dispatch, "it would certainly be a bitter disappointment to the citizens of Butler. Not only would our people be compelled to pay the bonds, but already a lot of ravenous lawyers have dipped out of the treasury in the neighborhood of $8,000 as remuneration for their labors in defeating the payment of these bonds, paid out under a contract signed by the commissioners, which explicitly states in substance, that unless the bonds were defeated, their labors should go unrewarded. Now if a higher court reverses the decision and declares the bonds legal, this money already drawn is certainly nothing more nor less than a direct contribution from the county vaults and the public will so declare it."

—Mrs. Hall, of Platte county, who lost her house by fire last April, in which two of her children were burned to death, was in Edgar Wednesday, soliciting aid with which to replace her house with a new one. She says with plenty should give a little aid in the circumstance of this kind.—Edgar Review.

Is this the same woman who was arrested in Omaha the other day for being drunk and on whose person was found $225? She was in Lincoln during the summer with the same story, and the Platte county papers could not remember that anybody had been burned out, much less lost two children.—Lincoln Journal.

We have not yet been able to find any trace of such happenings in Platte county.

—The Fullerton Journal says that a young man, a track-layer on the branch, got drunk at Fullerton, and in the evening started for camp. On reaching the Cedar he slid down the bank to obtain a drink, and there nature failed, he lay down and slept, only to awake in the morning with both feet frozen stiff. He succeeded in walking to the house of Mr. Erickson, and a doctor was summoned who pronounced amputation necessary. The Journal closes with this brief paragraph:

"This case speaks for itself. A young man—not yet of age—just in the morning of life, comes to this civilized town, on the Sabbath day, and is furnished liquor whereby he becomes hopelessly intoxicated, with the result of a lost limb. Comment is unnecessary. We would only like to ask, how much school money is an offset for such a calamity?"

—We have concluded, since we examined the records of the police judge's court on the subject of bawdy houses that the only answer necessary to make to the judge thereof, who is one of the editorial writers on the Democrat, is that if he can be converted to the policy of the law, and will brush the cobwebs out of his judicial eyes, and assess fines upon these women, when their cases come before him time after time, fines which in amount will indicate the intended, full purpose of the law, namely, an abatement of the nuisance, then we may begin to hope that Columbus will not contain one strumpet for every hundred of its population; we can then begin to hope that when a man or woman of spirit is pestered by the near presence of one of these infamous places, and concludes that it mustn't go, the amount of fines and continued prosecutions (which seem here to be the indispensable means of removal) will be such that the removal will be out of the town, and out of the county.

Program for County Teachers' Association.

To be held in Columbus, at the Yellowstone School House, Friday night, the 14th, '93. First, Miss Annie Duffey, subject, Nephewship. Mr. Madison Fisher, subject, Comparison of the schools of Pennsylvania with those of Nebraska. Mr. M. Brugger, subject, "That Bad Boy." C. J. Garlow, subject, "How to teach Morality." All teachers in the county are wanted present, and as many others as are interested in education.

School Board.

The full board met Monday evening. We note the more important transactions.

It was ordered that when teachers wish supplies they make their wants known to the supply committee.

The committee authorized to sell property, reported that on Nov. 10th they had sold the following lots: 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, blk. 253, to Thos. Keating, for $60; 1, blk. 240, Carl Kramer, id., for $60; 7, blk. 193, Keating, $80; 4, blk. 68, 6, 7, John Rickly, $90; 3, blk. 109, Keating, $60; 7 and 8, blk. 68, to Mr. Chesnir, $60. The committee were instructed to offer property at private sale at not less than the appraised valuation.

Ordered that non-resident pupils be required to pay tuition monthly in advance.

The following bills were allowed and warrants ordered drawn for their payment:

Humphrey.
 Winter comes in gentle like a lamb. According to the old saying we will see the lion next spring.
 The supper given at the new parsonage was a success, both in bringing together a large company of people and increasing of its finance. The amount of clear money we hear is about twenty dollars.
 E. H. Penfield, from Fremont, Ill., was in town last week looking up a good place for running a banking business. We learn Mr. Penfield & Bro. have the cash, and that he was very favorably impressed with the outlook here. He has a couple of other towns to visit before he makes final decision.
 Thanksgiving passed off very quietly here. We hope every one was as thankful as the humble writer, who was not only invited out and dined with turkey, but was presented also with one of those noble birds by our kind neighbor Mr. Thomas Currin. Truly, there is much to be thankful for, as the Lord not only sustains us with health and strength and a goodly share of fortune, but kind friends and neighbors are also in our share.
 The Granville literary society will meet for its reorganization on Friday evening of this week, and just here I conducted what I think these meetings conducted properly are among the foremost means of gaining literary cultivation, and next to a good newspaper we know of no means that will bring the people of a neighborhood more right as to what is going on in the intellectual world towards the advancement and enlightenment of the mind than the literary societies. At these debates and otherwise social gatherings.
Our Primary Teachers.
 Tired, worn-out primary teachers, have you not often, in the midst of your labors, wished for the magician's wand? And then: "Presto, change!" Your fifty or sixty little ones, representing several nationalities, each one study in himself, would be superseded by a group of twenty or thirty "bright, sparkling ones. And then you might get a better change to go through raptures about the possibilities of our little ones here and hereafter.
 It is all well enough for us principally to talk to you about the "new education," the "kindergartens," "general all, wholesome teachers," etc., when we well enough know, that the circumstances under which you labor are not always those of "great hope and encouragement." The real problem is to deal with schools as they are. A German proverb says: "Build your walls with what stones you have."
 The masses (people) are slow to appreciate genuine endeavors. The "tax-payer" rules, and his patience is often exhausted.
 She who makes a good school her life, will be brought forth into an education, and worthy of more hire than she who succeeds, with all the circumstances in her favor. Noble and of primary teachers! May the time soon come when your efforts will be adequately paid and appreciated.
 TEACHER.
Time Graces.
 BUTLER PRINCIPAL, Dec. 2, '83.
 ED. JOURNAL.—Some time ago you published for a series of articles on time-grasses from some of our Platte country farmers. As I have not seen any article from any one yet I will give you my experience of seeding down 30 acres of timothy and five acres of clover: In August 1882, I turned 35 acres of oats and wheat stubbles. In the second week of September, I sowed one and a half bushels of rye on the plowed ground. Harrowed it thoroughly, then I sowed from 8 to 8 quarts to the acre; then took a heavy roller and rolled it. Have a good good stand of timothy. Pastured fifty head of cattle on it this fall, the five acres of clover). Plowed in August 1882, sowed it in wheat this spring, then harrowed it twice; then sowed 1 1/2 bushel of clover on the five acres and gave it a slight harrowing. It looks as well as any clover I ever see in Iowa or Pennsylvania. I sowed the red fume clover. I sowed 1 1/2 bushel of blue grass on sod. Can't tell yet how it will do. I am rather inclined to think the best plan would be to take cultivated land to make a success of raising tame grasses.

MARRIED.

TEDROW—KINGSTON—At the residence of the bride's parents, five miles northwest of Columbus, at 2:30 o'clock Thursday, Nov. 28, W. H. Tedrow and Jennie R. Kingston were united in the holy bonds of matrimony, Rev. Little officiating, C. J. Garlow and Miss Alice Kingston acting as groomsmen and bridesmaids.

The bride and groom were beautifully attired and made a fine appearance before the guests. After the ceremony, were repaired to the dining room, where a table was spread with nearly all luxuries imaginable. The presents were quite numerous and valuable, viz: A large turban by Mrs. Swortley; sugar bowl by Jessie Swortley; silver butter knife and sugar spoon, by Miss Mary E. Coalter; set of napkins, by Misses Daisy and Belle Swortley; set of silver spoons, by Mrs. A. E. Coalter; silver butter knife, by Will Swortley; silver napkin rings, by Miss Laura and Walter Butler; silver napkin rings, by Miss Alice Kingston; silver and glass cologne set, by Miss Myra Ewing; silver pickle caster, Mr. Brugger; silver butter dish, by C. J. Garlow; set silver knives, by Mr. Field. Mr. Tedrow has succeeded in capturing one of Platte county's fairest and best damself, and Miss Kingston also captivated a handsome, business and energetic young man. Therefore their voyage on the ocean of life is bound to be a smooth one.

DIED.

FRIEDHOF—in Columbus, Neb., Nov. 28th, 1884, Maggie M., daughter of Mr. Mrs. Theodore Friedhof, aged 21 months.

Maggie was a sweet, promising little girl and her sudden death casts a shadow of deep sorrow over the hearts of the parents.

A large and imposing funeral cortege of sympathizing friends followed the remains to the cemetery where the grave was strewn with flowers by little hands and loving hearts.

15-x R. MACKENZIE.
Lippitt, Leak & Co. still keep on hand at Galley Bros. in this city at their store on 11th street a small quantity of soft buckskin gloves to furnish actual customers. This house has been unable to get large shipments of the article and consequently no large amount of the article has accumulated. It is rather surprising that from the great number of customers supplied no one has presented to the salesman any dissatisfaction with his purchase. The writer met a man who had been wearing a pair of the soft gloves, and while we were looking at them he said they were very nice, but too warm. We remarked we had not yet had any very cold weather and they would be all right when the very severe cold weather set in.
